More than 300 residents of York Springs, Latimore and Huntington townships met at York Springs Tuesday night to discuss types of school organization which could be set up at York Springs. After Dr. Robert A. Bream, assistant county superintendent of schools, had outlined factors which constitute a satisfactory school district, the citizens reached the conclusion that this area is not yet ready to determine a plan.

Committees were named, representing the three communities, to study the situation and call additional meetings in the three sections. Named as chairman of the York Springs committee was the Rev. Orville Warner. Other members of this committee are Mrs. Harry Griest and the Rev. Ralph Meckley.

The Latimore township committee is composed of Raymond Leer, York Springs R. 1, chairman; R. E. Hoak, Dillsburg R. 2, and Ross Koons, York Springs R. 1. Named on the Huntington township committee were William Snyder, chairman, Harry Haller and George Howe, all of York Springs R. 1. Additional names may be added to the three committees later.

Plan Public Meetings
The committees will announce dates of public meetings to be held in various parts of the area in the early future.

Maurice Bower, principal of the York Springs school, presided, and introduced Dr. Bream, who based his outline of a satisfactory school district on the report of a recent project sponsored by the University of Chicago, National Education association and the Farm Foundation.

"The report indicates, briefly, that a satisfactory school district has

SPEED AND 'BAD MANNERS' ARE CRASH CAUSES

Drivers who had failed to slow when conditions did not permit normal traveling speeds caused most of the 16 accidents during May, the recapitulation of the activities of the local sub-station of the state police disclosed today.

During May there were two persons killed in as many fatal accidents. Five persons were injured and property damage totaled $4,860. The month was one of the "safest," judging by the number of accidents and injured, in recent months. During April there were 33 accidents including one fatal. Twenty-four persons were injured and the property damage totaled $36,019. For May a year ago, there were 22 accidents, three were killed, 17 injured and damage totaled $15,190.

More "Bad Manners"
Next to too fast for conditions, as a cause for crashes, came failure to yield the right of way, failure to keep to the right side of the highway, improper passes and improper turns. All of the major causes were based on "poor road manners," state police pointed out.

Wednesday was the worst day for accidents with four of the smash-ups happening on Wednesdays. The week-end accident incidence also remained high.

In their attempts to stop the wave of highway crashes the police made 96 traffic arrests. They spent 1,446 hours on traffic work including 466 patrols. The police traveled 19,245 miles by car, 467 miles by motorcycle and 135 miles in their own personal cars during the month.

In addition to their traffic work the officers spent 303 hours on criminal work and 154 hours on special assignments. They made ten criminal investigations and 19 investigations for other state departments. One stolen car was recovered, valued at $1,650 and $100 in other property was recovered.

Here And There News Collected At Random

Last Sunday morning an out-of-state car stopped at the curb on West Middle street near Washington. The driver got out pulled a youngster from the back seat, plopped him tummy-down on the sidewalk and soundly spanked him with a wooden paddle. He then tossed the youth back into the car and before driving away a local resident, incensed at the incident, spoke sharply: "I'll bet your family is proud of you."

Miller was assistant air attaché and a member of the U. S. Air Mission to Brazil during the war. He was president of the SAE fraternity and the Interfraternity Council and a star wrestler in the 145-pound class during his college days here.

Three Children Missing In Vermont Floods; Vast Damage

(By The Associated Press)
With at least four persons—three of them children—missing and upwards of 500 homeless, Rutland, Vt., today staggered toward recovery from a roaring flood that caused damage estimated at more than $2,000,000.

National guardsmen patrolled the flooded residential area and emergency kitchens were set up to feed the homeless in Vermont's second largest city. Clearing weather indicated the worst was over. Business virtually was suspended as everywhere went to work to help the homeless and clear debris.

Rutland was the worst hit of several communities struck by flash floods that followed torrential rains in Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and New England.

A bursting dam north of Rutland sent a nine-foot wall of water pouring across sections of the city last night. An estimated 500 families left their homes; some heeded advance warnings and others were taken out by boat and canoe. The city of 18,000

EXTENSIVE ROAD WORK LAUNCHED BY STATE HERE

An extensive road building and improvement program for Adams county this summer is already underway.

State Highway Department workmen are blacktopping a 5-mile section of the Gettysburg-Harrisburg highway between York Springs and Heidlersburg and in 10 days work is scheduled to begin on the reconstruction of the section of the Biglerville road from Grandview Terrace to Thoman's, near the Reading railroad crossing just south of Sheffer's park.

The Biglerville road will be rebuilt to a width of 22 feet with a bituminous surface and eight-foot shoulders.

To Detour on Carlisle Road
Superintendent J. William Kendlehart, Jr., said the old Carlisle road will be used as a detour with the main highway expected to be closed throughout the summer.

The surfacing work now underway on the Harrisburg road will close the last gap in the blacktop roadway between Gettysburg and Harrisburg. Last year the road was surfaced to York Springs. More than a mile of the stretch toward Heidlersburg is finished.

Other Highway Department workmen are finishing work started last year on the Quaker Valley and Beecherstown roads. That work is to be finished in about a month, including the completion of three bridges where work was delayed by steel shortages.

60 Miles To Be Treated
Sixty miles of county highways are scheduled for surface treatment of stone chips and oil during the summer. That work will begin about July 1, Mr. Kendlehart said. A macadam highway will be built over a half-mile stretch of earth road north from Abbottstown with half of the section lying within the borough.

Department workmen recently completed center lining of 70 miles of county highways within a two-day period. Soon the Lincoln Highway will get a center line of "luminite," a white line studded with glass beads to improve visibility at night. Work on that project started at Philadelphia and is proceeding westward. It soon will reach this county.

Impressions Of Gettysburg And Citizens In 1882 Told Historians By Dr. Alleman

The Gettysburg of 1882 and its personalities were described to members of the Adams County Historical Society at their June meeting Tuesday evening at the court house by Dr. Herbert C. Alleman, professor emeritus of the Gettysburg Lutheran Theological seminary and former pastor of College Lutheran church.

Doctor Alleman entertained the historians with his recollections of the Gettysburg he found when he came here at the age of 14 from Shippensburg to prepare for entrance to Gettysburg college at the academy.

"Dignified" was the term most often applied to the town and its leading citizens of that day.

Like Southern Town
"The aspect of Gettysburg in 1882 was more like that of a Southern town than any other picture I can draw," he said. "Dignity was one of its chief products in that day. Even its leading merchants wore frock coats and cutaways and their business was conducted in a more or less dignified way."

"The town's retail business was a question of gentlemanly exchange. Goods were not thrown at you or jammed into showwindows and you did not have bills proclaiming special premiums thrust upon you," he said.

When Doctor Alleman came to Gettysburg to begin his studies it was a 10-hour journey by rail from Shippensburg to Harrisburg, to York, to Baughman's Valley, to Hanover and finally to Gettysburg. His first impressions of the town were of its charm, "a little town nestled among the trees." Carlisle street then was "a dream of beauty."

Compared With Jerusalem
The town had 2,500 residents. Its size and contour he compared to that of Jerusalem. Its limits then were Stevens on the north, South street on the south and the two "points" (schools) to the east and west. Gettysburg then was "famous or infamous" for its dusty, sprinklerless streets and its "rocking" brick sidewalks.

The Weaver building with the opera house on the second floor was almost an "intrusion" in center square which was lined by older landmarks in which he included the Wills house, the home of Mrs. Rob-

CONTRACTORS TO STOP WORK ON 400 JOBS

Philadelphia, June 4 (AP)—Work on 400 Philadelphia area building projects costing $60,000,000 is scheduled to be halted tonight because of what the General Building Contractors association says are repeated work stoppages by building trades unions.

Harold D. Hoffman, association secretary, says the group's stop-work order will affect 80 general contractors and 262 building contractors employing 20,000 workers in the five-county Philadelphia area. Eight or nine building trades unions have not agreed on wage contracts.

Hoffman said in a statement, "The General Building Contractors association can no longer work under the conditions that exist in the construction industry in this area, and has agreed to stop all work under contract with its members in Philadelphia and surrounding communities as of the close of business on Wednesday, June 4."

Joseph F. Burke, president of the Building Trades Council (AFL) termed the stop order "an unjustifiable lockout and in direct violation of an agreement between us."

Burke said there are 91 locals representing 42 crafts in the Building Trades Council and 30,000 of their members are now under contract.

"Now the contractors call a lock-out," said Burke, "because eight unions have failed to reach contract agreement."

REPORT SPLIT ON MENTAL HEALTH

Harrisburg, June 4 (AP)—A Republican senator says Governor James H. Duff "is in favor" of creating a separate department of mental health—a move opposed by Charlie R. Barber, secretary of welfare.

"That is what the governor told me before the hearing and I'll stand back of that statement," Chairman Jacob W. Carr (R-Butler) of the Senate's public health and welfare committee, told a reporter.

Carr's statement was made after he had presided at a three-hour committee session to consider a house-approved bill which would set up a separate mental health department. The welfare department now supervises the Commonwealth's mental institutions through a bureau of mental health.

Establishment of the department was opposed vigorously by officers of the Medical Society of Pennsylvania. They, like Barber, contended that a new department would be costly, would overlap present functions of the bureau of mental health and that the welfare department could carry out a comprehensive mental health program with the more than $70,000,000 of appropriations recommended by the governor.

However, the Public Charities Association of Pennsylvania, headed by Judge Nochem S. Winnett of Philadelphia, said a new department would be of great benefit to the Commonwealth.

U.S. OF EUROPE IN TEST TUBE IN THREE NATIONS

By SIGRID ARNE

Washington, June 4 (AP)—The recurring notion that Europe might be happier as a "United States of Europe" is getting a laboratory test in three of the little north countries.

Belgium, The Netherlands and Luxembourg are working toward an economic union which will mean their people can do business with each other just about as the people of Pennsylvania, New Jersey and Maryland do.

The experiment is getting a good bit of anxious and hopeful watching from experts who think Europe's tariff walls and patch-work currency systems only add fuel to the flames of antagonistic nationalisms.

No Tariffs
This September the three little countries will set up a uniform tariff schedule. The Belgian, the Dutchman and the Luxembourg citizen, buying from country "X" will all pay the same tariff on the same commodity.

Right now there is no tariff or customs duty between them except a few excise taxes and luxury duties. And they are not so much based on the old idea of shutting out foreign goods as they are a deterrent to trade in non-essentials.

No visas are needed to travel between the countries, and the hope is to keep it that way. The Netherlands is the most liberal on this score. They already have made agreements with several European nations—the United Kingdom the largest among them—to permit free travel, wiping out the nuisance tax of the visa fee.

Eventually the three little countries plan to have a common currency.

Trade Picks Up
Happily Belgium and Holland are markedly complimentary to each other in the small things they turn out. Strangely, lying as close as they do on a small part of the world's map, Belgium is roughly a Pittsburgh to The Netherlands' combination of Kansas and Minnesota.

Traditionally the Belgians have bought the Dutchman's dairy products and world famous bulbs. And the Dutchman has bought a good bit of his iron and steel products from his western neighbor.

Up to World War II the three nations charged tariffs on each other's products. With the tariff now out of the way, the price the consumer pays in all three countries will be lower. Trade has already picked up in the area noticeably.

NEW SPLIT ON TEACHER PAY

Harrisburg, June 4 (AP)—Openly split on the teacher pay issue, the House and Senate proceeded at cross-purposes today toward enactment of separate bills to provide salary increases to most of Pennsylvania's 58,000 teachers.

The surprise cleavage — it followed by less than a week an agreement among GOP House and Senate education conferees — involved these rapid-fire developments yesterday:

1. Recommendation by the House of the Solenberger-Stuart bill providing for a pay scale ranging from a minimum of $2,400 to a maximum of $5,400.

2. Disclosure by House Republican leaders that the measure would be amended to reduce the pay scale to $1,950-$4,000 and a prediction that the revised bill would pass the House before the week ended.

3. Return to the Senate floor of the Homsher-Berger bill which also provides for a $1,950-$4,000 salary scale, but containing a less liberal plan for automatic increases than the House plan.

WORKER FALLS TO FIERY DEATH

Johnstown, Pa., June 4 (AP)—A

27-year-old worker plunged to a fiery death from the iron-like crust of a 100-foot high slag pile in what a Bethlehem Steel company official described as "the most horrible accident" in the company's history.

W. H. Slick, slag train engineer, who was only 18 feet away, said the victim, World War II veteran John Smatlak, Jr., of Johnstown, "simply threw up his hands and disappeared."

"One instant he was there and the next he was gone," Slick said. Smatlak's bride of less than a year, who is to become a mother soon, was prostrated at word of her husband's death late yesterday.

If the slag pile is cool enough today, company officials said they will use a power shovel in an effort to find Smatlak's remains.

Slag piles, containing refuse from steel mills, are usually used as the roadbed of a slag train. The interior burns from spontaneous combustion, often for years.

Bethlehem officials said they had never heard of a similar accident.

Smatlak disappeared into a four-foot hole ripped across the top of the crust in an almost unprecedented collapse. The crust was so solid a railroad track has been built on it.

Unleashing a powerful batting attack in the late innings which included three homers, the State Highway team laced the Moose 12-2 Tuesday evening in a Community Softball league game on the college field to take undisputed possession of first place.

The Highway tabbed two runs in the second on a single by Hankey, double by G. Fair and single by Gorman. The Moose quickly tied the count in the third on singles by Hixon and Stonelifer, a walk to McSherry and double by Baker. The Highway picked up single runs in the third and fourth. Houck replaced Baltzley on the mound for the Moose in the fifth and was tagged for five runs in that frame which included homers by Everhart and A. Hankey. Three more Highway runs came in the sixth and included another homer by March.

In the opening game on the college field the Texas Lunch gained a 6-3 victory over the Elks. A single by McClellan, double by Donhart and single by Tate produced two Elks runs in the first frame which the Texas Lunch quickly duplicated in their half on Heinzelman's single and a trio of errors. The lunchmen took the lead in the fourth with three runs on Raffensperger's single, a double by Larkin, Sachs' single and a triple by Heinzelman. The Elks' final run was the result of Kuhn's double and Herring's single in the fifth. A single by Flasel, a stolen base, and Raffensperger's safety gave the Texas Lunch their final tally in the fifth.

Legion Win First
 The American Legion outfit snapped a six-game losing streak by defeating Evans' store 7-5 in the opener on the high school field.

In the second game at high school the Acme overcame a 5-0 lead gained by Knox's store to triumph 11-7, a seven-run rally in the last of the fifth turning the trick. Reds Tawney homered for Knox's in the seventh with a runner on base.

Barons Win Eighth By Narrow Margin

(By The Associated Press)
 The Wilkes-Barre Barons, leading the Eastern baseball league, narrowly scored their eighth consecutive victory last night, 8-7, over the seventh-place Albany Senators.

The Utica Blue Sox, defeated Elmira twice, 5-1 and 8-0, to wrest second place from the Williamsport Tigers.

A power failure at Williamsport ended the Tigers' game with Binghamton in the third inning, when the Triplets held a 13-0 lead.

The Scranton Miners defeated Hartford, 9-8, for their third win in a row after a series of losses.

WILLIAMS AND MONTGOMERY TO MEET AUGUST 4

Philadelphia, June 4 (AP)—That lightweight boxing championship muddle won't be muddled much longer—for it'll be Ike vs. the Bobcat on August 4.

Ike is Ike Williams of Trenton, N. J., the 24-year-old National Boxing association titlist.

The Bobcat is Bob Montgomery of Philadelphia, who at 28 is the lightweight king in New York, Pennsylvania and affiliated states.

The site will be Philadelphia's vast municipal stadium, and the bout is under the co-sponsorship of Promoter Herman Taylor and the Philadelphia Inquirer Charities, Inc.

The two hard-hitting Negro boxers signed yesterday with the Bobcat agreeing to accept 30 per cent of the gate and Ike accepting a 25 per cent figure.

It will be one of the most anxiously-awaited boxing matches in many years, for speculation has been rife for several years as to the relative merit of the pair.

They met once before with Montgomery scoring a 12th round knockout over Williams, on January 25, 1944.

But Ike came back to flatten Juan Zurita of Mexico to win the NBA title and later defended it successfully against Enrique Bolanos and Ronnie James.

Montgomery won his title in a won-lost-won three bout title series with Beau Jack in 1943 and 1944. Since his army discharge he has conquered Alvie Stolz and Wesley Mouzon in title battles.

There is no immediate indication of who will wear the favorite's mantle, but more than likely the shorter odds will be on Montgomery largely because of his previous victory over Williams.

Williams and Montgomery are relatively evenly matched on paper. Ike has scored 39 knockouts in 90 fights and the Bobcat has flattened 45 of his 98 opponents.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

New York, June 3 (AP)—When the idea of a national collegiate baseball playoff first was broached, several NCAA bigwigs maintained it couldn't be successful because it would be impossible to keep the teams together until late June.

Now the University of Illinois, which finished its regular season May 17, is booking games against semi-pro clubs to keep in shape for the playoffs. Texas finished about the same time but the team hasn't disbanded, and their first championship competition will come in the sectional playoffs June 20-21. In the south they're so eager that Alabama, Auburn, Clemson and Virginia will play an elimination series next week for the district 3 bid. . . Would it be impolite to say "I told ya so?"

IDENTITY CONFIRMED

At a ball game between Austin and Wichita Falls in the Texas Big State league Sunday the Wichita Falls Spudders called upon a pinch hitter—a big red headed kid stepped up and told Umpire Berry: "I'm Albert R. McCarty of Jonesboro, Ark., my uniform number is 18 and I'm coming in to hit for Third Baseman Eddie Storenski. I'll go into the lineup at third base, but first I'm liable to knock the ball out of the park." . . The ump wanted to repeat it all to the crowd just for the laugh, but a routine cut in first. . . So Berry still was chuckling to himself when McCarty slammed a home run over the right field wall.

SPORTS BEFORE YOUR EYES

Jimmy Crowley, a Green Bay, Wis., boy, plans to mix the Notre Dame formation that the Packers have used so successfully for years with the popular "T" for the Chicago Rockets offense this fall. . . Tony Janiro started boxing as a featherweight and Jake Lamotta was a heavyweight in his first amateur bouts. When they clash in the garden Friday Tony will weigh about 150 and Jake has agreed to make 155 pounds. . . The recent retirement of Titan Hanover left the trotting horse trade without a single free-for-all trotter and only one pacer, Ensign Hanover, in the $64,000 winning class. But Algiers should make it soon. . . Bill Chandler, Marquette U. basketball coach, is cooking up a pegeant, "Fifty Years of Basketball," for presentation next winter. . . Some cage coaches age 50 years during one game.

WALKER TRADE LOOMS AS BEST DEAL OF YEAR

By HERB ALTSCHULL

Philadelphia, June 4 (AP)—When the 1947 baseball returns are in more than likely the Philadelphia Phillies will poll the most votes for the deal of the year.

The party in question is one Harry Walker, drawing 28-year-old native of Leeds, Ala., who covers center field in the tradition of the greatest of flychasers.

But it isn't for Harry's fielding that the votes are piling up—it's for his almost unbelievable power at the plate.

For Harry Walker, who could hit only 237 for the world champion St. Louis Cardinals last year, is now pacing the national league hitters with a nifty 364 batting mark.

Just "Younger Brother"

And it wasn't so very long ago that Walker was being referred to merely as "Dixie's younger brother." For his brother, Dixie, long a favorite in Brooklyn, has been one of the senior circuit's leading outfielders for a decade.

But where was Harry?

Well, for a long time he was kicking around in the minors. Then he went up with the Cardinals, regarded as a classy fielder and only an average hitter.

A southpaw, Harry was reserved for those games in which opposing clubs pitched right handers. And, according to Walker, that's why he wasn't an impressive batsman.

But he picked up a new batting stance from Dixie late last season and employed it to good purpose in the 1946 world series when he batted 412 to pace series hitters.

Traded For Northey

Many recall that it was Enos Slaughter's running that gave the Cards the series victory last year, but not so many remember that it was Walker's double that drove him home.

Well, this year St. Louis was looking for more power. So, they traded Walker along with pitcher Fred Schmidt to the Phillies for outfielder Ron Northey and an undisclosed sum of cash.

Northey, a distinct failure here, has picked up steam and is a 300 hitter for the Redbirds.

But Walker has hoisted his batting average from the 200 mark he had when he was traded, high into the baseball stratosphere.

Last night when the Phils were defeating Cincinnati, 4-1, Walker scored once on some daring base running and drove home the three other tallies with a bases-loaded triple. In addition he played a spectacular fielding game.

Trenton Dumps Rocks In Cellar

(By The Associated Press)

The amazing Trenton Giants ran their Interstate league winning streak to six games and at the same time dumped the 1946 champion, the Wilmington Blue Rocks, into the loop cellar with a 3-2 victory last night.

Meanwhile, the Allentown Cardinals increased their league lead over Harrisburg to four and a half games by turning back Lancaster 5-0 while Harrisburg was bowing to Sunbury 14-9. In the only other game, Hagerstown's Owls turned back the York White Roses 11 to 5.

Bucs Will Train In California

Pittsburgh, June 4 (AP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates will return to California after a one-year crack at Florida spring training, Bucco General Manager Roy Hamey announced today.

The Pirates will iron out the winter wrinkles in their salary arms at the plant of the Hollywood stars of the Pacific Coast league. The stars will train elsewhere in California.

Hamey said the presence of several other major league clubs in the west coast area next spring influenced the decision. This proximity will provide more spring tests against major league opposition he said.

GIANTS SMASH THREE HOMERS TO BEAT CUBS

By JOE REICHLER

(AP Sports Writer)
 Although the New York Giants are the surprise team of the major leagues, there is no secret why Mel Ott's gang is at the top of the National league today.

The answer lies in their big, booming home run bats. It has been the four-base blow, more than anything else, that has been directly responsible for a large majority of their victories.

In 39 games of which they've won 23, the slugging men of Ott, led by Johnny Mize, the majors' leading homer hitter, have walloped 48 four baggers.

Mize 14 home runs to date put him two days ahead of Babe Ruth's record-breaking pace of 60 home runs in 1927.

Dodgers Close Third

The Giants hit three circuit smashes at the Polo Grounds last night to whip the Chicago Cubs 8-3 and take over sole possession of first place. The defeat dropped the Cubs into second place, one game behind and only three percentage points ahead of the Brooklyn Dodgers.

The Dodgers swept a doubleheader from Pittsburgh at Ebbets Field out-slugging the Pirates 11-6 and 8-7 to move into third place past the Boston Braves who were shut out by the St. Louis Cardinals 3-0 in Boston. Philadelphia advanced from seventh to sixth past Cincinnati by downing the Reds 4-1 at Philadelphia.

The New York Yankees, led by Joe DiMaggio, blanked the Detroit Tigers 3-0 to narrow the Bengals' first-place lead in the American league to two games. Washington went into a virtual fifth place tie with the Philadelphia Athletics by nailing out the third-place Cleveland Indians 6-5 in Cleveland.

TWENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Drift of Politics Is Toward Overthrow of State Government: "Our safety lies in our ability to find and elect representatives, both in state and nation, of such experience, of such knowledge and of such character that they will not deem it of vital importance that they should secure the support of special groups solely intent on their own special interests," declared Hon. T. Dinner Beeber in his address from the rostrum in the National Cemetery Tuesday afternoon, incident to the annual Memorial Day exercises held there.

The services at the rostrum were in charge of the Rev. Dr. Jacob A. Clutz. The invocation was given by Dr. J. A. Singmaster, who also pronounced the benediction at the close of the exercises. Hon. George J. Benner read Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

Today's Talk

THE DAY'S WORK

There is no tomorrow—today. None of us is assured as to what the tomorrow may bring forth. Today is the supreme day—the day of days—to be carried through in the best possible manner, and with as much courage and ability as we may possess.

The therapeutic value of cheerfulness, and the gracefulness of acceptance, are rarely given their just importance. Both are medicine that have more to do with the health and happiness of us all than we ever appreciate. The most welcomed of all people is the cheerful person, and that one to whom we gladly turn for counsel is the man or woman who has been schooled to take things as they come—without complaint, but with graceful acceptance.

The day's work, to people who love their work, or who see in it an unusual opportunity to render valuable service, is looked upon as a privilege. The day before, or the day that may follow, has no concern for such. It might just as well be the last day, so far as they are concerned. Today is the only important day for any one of us to be concerned about. Tomorrow will take care of itself—if it comes—the same as yesterday took care of itself.

One thing at a time, and one day at a time, is sufficient for any one of us. Therefore, it is imperative that we make the most of this day's work, and of each one of its calls, or tasks, doing our best, and leave the rest—which, also, will take care of itself.

Said Stevenson: "Earn a little, and spend a little—less." And again: "A few friends, but those with a capitalization." And James W. R. "Love, and the smiling face of her." It's the simple and wholesome tasks of each day that make it significant. Not the things of proud display and loud acclaim.

Who can adequately measure the full extent of good and influence, resulting from that motto of the Boy Scouts, to perform at least one good act each day? Each one goes down in memory.

I recall the incident of the visit of a noted man to the camp of a group of boys. He was lame and the boys showed him unusual attention and kindness. So appreciative was he that he responded by furnishing the money to give them a fine boat house, and continued in other ways to be their benefactor. It's a good day's work when you have done something to make someone else happier!

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "Brain Dusting."

THE HUMBLING GAME
That "golf's a humbling game" was said

By some old Scot, long ages dead.
The proudest man of yesterday—
Tomorrow at his worst may play,
But nothing spoils a golfer's life
Like being beaten by his wife.

When lovely woman comes to skill
And learns the way to swat the pill,
Although devoted unto him,
She hopes her husband soon to trim;
And he, though fond and proud of her,
Dreads the dark day that may occur.

Proud man who was, but is no more,
Downcast as golfers oft before,
Admitting in a manner grim
The little wife has beaten him;
Hearing his fellows' laughter rude,
Completely humbled and subdued!

ANNUAL SCHOOL REPORT ISSUED IN BIGLERVILLE

If anyone asks Biglerville public school officials "What goes on around here?" he gets a quick answer.

The answer is an 173-page book titled "Annual Report of the Biglerville Public Schools." The book was mimeographed by the commercial department at the school and prepared by the faculty.

Presented to patrons and friends of the school, the report was coordinated by a committee of the faculty including Virginia Troxell, mathematics teacher, chairman; Mary E. Basehoar, French and English; C. P. Keefe, guidance; and Arthur M. Gordon, social studies. The supervision of the mimeographing was under Ralph Eckenrode.

Philosophy and Facts
Five pages at the beginning of the book outline the philosophy and aims of the school system and give a history of the type of person attending the school.

The outline of the educational philosophy of the schools points out that in the past few years more emphasis has been placed on the development of the vocational and industrial arts program.

The curriculum, according to the report, is designed to offer "within each subject field a wide variety of experiences and activities which will broaden and develop the pupils to a realization of their places in present day society" in addition to providing for "the mastery of factual material."

Elementary Report
Also contained in the report is a list of the teachers, their subjects and the extra curricular activities of which they are in charge.

The elementary school report lists all of the subjects taught by grade and the manner in which the various subjects are developed from year to year. In the report on the first grade the school authorities point out how a pre-reading program is presented to "aid adjustment in school situations, improve physical and mental health, develop adequate speaking vocabulary and language ability, stimulate interest in reading and provide certain kinds of information and the specific skills required for reading."

Throughout the year, the report points out, "children in the first grade who have approximately the same achievement in reading are grouped together for reading instruction. The grouping is flexible since individual children vary in their rate of progress."

For 3-Year Periods
Leading the report for each grade is a list of things which the student is beginning to understand by that time in each subject. For example the sixth grade pupil in his studies of history, according to the report, is "learning to think through the problems of the classroom, the school, the nation and the world. He can work and play with others harmoniously, can assume responsibility for maximum contribution to group, is learning to respect the rights of others, is developing a spirit of tolerance and brotherhood and has an expanded and developing concept of community life."

The Biglerville school system is based on four three-year periods in the student's life, according to the report. First are the primary grades, one through three, next the intermediate, four through six, the junior high school, grades seven through nine and the senior high

FARM CALENDAR

Keep Eggs Cool—Protect egg quality by careful management of the egg holding room. Window shades will keep out the heat of the sun. Ventilate the egg room only at night when it is cooler outside than inside.

Control Dog Ticks—Carriers of the serious Rocky Mountain spotted fever, dog ticks can be controlled by DDT. Extension entomologists of the Pennsylvania State college recommend a light dusting of 5 to 10 per cent DDT powder applied to grass, weeds, or shrubs at the rate of 2 to 4 pounds an acre, or 1 ounce per 1000 square feet.

Preserve Fence Posts—Only black locust and red cedar posts last well without some form of preservative. Extension foresters of the Pennsylvania State College recommend treatment for all other species if the fence line is to stand more than 10 years.

Provide Summer Shelters—Summer shelters on the poultry range provide healthful quarters for developing pullets and simplify the management problem by reducing labor requirements. Such shelters release the brooding quarters for an additional flock of chicks, while the regular laying quarters are being prepared for the new pullet crop.

Spittle Bugs at Work—Spittle bugs—they literally work "them-selves up into a lather"—have been appearing on vegetable plants and small fruits. They can be controlled by using sprays or dusts, formulas of which can be obtained from agricultural agents, say Penn State extension entomologists.

The primary pupil progress report has three gradings, "does poorly," "could do better" and "does good work" and lists such things as "Work and Study habits," "Social and Personal activities" such as whether he can work together with others; reading abilities, spelling abilities—dividing the subject so that the school can report not only on how well the child can spell when regular spelling classes are given but how he spells in his other written work. The pupil progress report also tells the parent how the child speaks, his ability in mathematics, his writing abilities, ability in music, etc.

As an example of the method used in reporting the progress of the children the language report is divided into five parts: "1, speaks distinctly in a pleasing tone of voice, 2, speaks in complete sentences; 3, tells experiences in a way that interests others; 4, uses new words correctly and 5, can express ideas in speech."

Higher Grades
The pupil progress reports for the intermediate grades give four possible markings, excellent, good, average and poor. The report covers much more than that for the primary grades. As an example it tells of work and play habits toward others, the care the student takes of school property, his degree of dependability, his willingness to accept criticism and profit by it. Instead of listing history by a letter marking, it lists for history: 1, "the ability to master the historical data . . . 2, the degree of knowledge of current history as expressed in conversation with others is . . . 3, the ability to draw conclusions based on facts of history is . . . 4, the progress in history is . . ."

In addition the school also presents reports with the regular "A," "B," "C," "D," and "F," markings, for the high school students.

Nutrients in skim milk, pound for pound, equal those in muscle meat.

NEW INDUSTRY FOR CASHTOWN

Paul A. Duane, who in 1928 and 1929, was a state policeman at the Gettysburg sub-station, and who at that time decided upon Cashtown as his future home, recently purchased the former Robert Hahn property at Cashtown and plans this week to begin making hair tonic on a small scale with four employees. In September he plans construction of a temporary 48 by 60 foot structure, two stories high, on the property to be the original factory for what he hopes in time will be "a good sized concern."

The hair tonic actually is the start for what Duane hopes will eventually become an insecticide, detergent and germicide plant. Duane, after leaving the state police here, took advantage of his chemical knowledge gained as a chemistry major at Cornell and went to California where at Pomona he established an insecticide plant, and sold fruit sprays. Later he sold his plant and came east.

Discovered By Accident
The hair tonic is practically an accident, according to Duane. It seems that a helper at the California plant mixed up some chemicals that were being used experimentally while believing she was making spray materials. Duane discovered the mistake, investigated the contents, and wondered what to do with it.

In the meantime a Duane youngster spilled some scalding water on the family dog and the animal lost its hair. In testing the concoction mixed by mistake Duane found some elements of normal hair tonic and he decided to try the mixture on the dog to help it regrow its hair. Hair sprouted with remarkable speed and the Cashtown man decided to go a step further.

AVERAGE FARM DOESN'T EXIST

Farms of Pennsylvania vary so much in size and type that the "average farmer" hardly exists except on paper. This is the conclusion of Dr. George E. Brandow, agricultural economist of the Pennsylvania State college, after a recent study to determine the effects of the war period on the agriculture of the state.

The "average farmer" had an estimated net income of $1,760 per farm in 1946, according to Dr. Brandow. To reach this figure, the econo-

To Use DDT On Spuds From Beetle Areas

Shippers of potatoes from the heavily infested Southern Pennsylvania area that annually is placed under certain Japanese beetle quarantine regulations, this year may use DDT as a new method of treatment to prevent spread of the insects to other areas.

According to Dr. Thomas L. Guyton, director of the Bureau of Plant Industry, State Department of Agriculture, DDT may be used on graded sacked potatoes loaded in refrigerator cars or in van type or tight-bodied trucks, when applied under supervision of a plant quarantine inspector.

Predict Top Wheat Crop In Pennsylvania

One of the best Pennsylvania wheat crops in many years was predicted today for the 1947 season by the state Department of Agriculture.

According to Federal-State estimates based on May 1 conditions, harvest this season should bring a crop of 20,416,000 bushels compared with 19,912,000 last year and the 10-year average (1936-45) of 18,406,000 bushels.

More than three million telephones have been installed in the United States since war's end.

If the "average farmer" could be found, the economist says he would have about five milk cows, 92 laying hens, four hogs, two sheep, and a half-interest in a beef being fattened for market. His crops would include 15 acres of hay, 12 acres of small grains, eight acres of corn, 1 1/3 acres of potatoes and vegetables, and a patch of tobacco about the size of a baseball infield.

LADINO CLOVER IS WIDELY USED IN THIS COUNTY

Adams county is one of the leading counties in the state in the production and use of ladino clover, an article by Dr. D. F. Lininger, Pennsylvania Agricultural Experiment Station director, discloses.

Extensive research shows that the clover has many uses in the state and tests underway both at the Pennsylvania State college and on farms scattered in different parts of the state are being continued Doctor Lininger announced.

In Adams county however the crop has become so generally used that it no longer seems to be in the experimental stage. Ryland Garretson, Bendersville; William M. Lott, Gardners; Robert C. Lott, Aspers R. D., are among these in the upper section who are using ladino as cover crops in their orchards, it was pointed out today.

ed out today. And A. B. C. Williams, York Springs, has even gone beyond the ladino stage and is using a combination of ladino and blue grass that is proving very successful.

Successful results have been obtained in using ladino clover as pasture for dairy cattle, pigs, poultry and beef cattle. Doctor Lininger points out. Besides its use as pasture, ladino clover produces quality hay, can be used as silage and is one of the best cover crops in apple orchards.

Ladino clover has been found to mix well with various grasses, orchard grass, brome grass and timothy being used in many areas. Being shallow rooted, ladino clover has been found to thrive even when full lime requirements of the soil have not been met.

High costs of the seed are partially overcome by the fact that the seed is fine and only 1 to 1 1/2 pounds per acre are needed with grass mixtures. What seed has been harvested in this state has largely been harvested with hand equipment, but Dr. Lininger reports progress has been made on development of a mechanical harvester.

GOD'S RULE IS AFFIRMED AT CHURCH MEET

Boston, Mass., June 4.—Affirming that God rules the affairs of man, The Christian Science board of directors told the annual meeting of the Mother Church, the First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, that neither fear nor animality can give evil power to boast itself over good.

Supporting this challenge, Mrs. Helen Chaffee Elwell, newly elected president of The Mother Church, urged both pulpit and press to unite in a crusade of righteousness. The hour has struck, she indicated, "for the church to dare to be a David."

The directors' and the Mother Church president's remarks highlighted one of the largest annual meetings in years, with members of the church in session from various parts of the world. From California, England, Europe, Australia, New Zealand, and South Africa came reports of a growing resurgence in religious activities.

Membership Up
Gordon V. Comer, clerk of the Mother Church, disclosed a substantial increase in church membership in 1946. This he held due to the fruitage of healing throughout the field of Christian Science activities. These healings, he said, covered a wide variety of diseases, "many of which are considered incurable by schools of medicine."

His report disclosed that more than 200,000 food parcels were sent to Christian Scientists in 25 hunger-ridden countries during 1946, that food parcels were also transported directly to churches and societies in 11 European countries, and that a gift of 17 tons of books and periodicals was forwarded to German churches the moment shipping channels were reopened.

For The Christian Science Board of Lectureship, George Channing, chairman, reported increased lecture attendance in this country and abroad. These reports, aside from the United States, came substantially from the British Isles, Australia, New Zealand, and the continent of Europe.

Advance Bills On Strikes, Jobless Pay

Harrisburg, June 4 (AP)—Legislation outlawing walkouts by public employees on pain of dismissal and eliminating jobless benefits in labor disputes reached the home-stretch today in the Pennsylvania general assembly.

Approved by the Senate on a straight party vote despite six hours of debate and one-man filibuster, the key measures of the administration labor program returned to the house for agreement on Senate revisions and then will head for Gov. James H. Duff's desk.

The upper branch also approved administration proposals to extend the benefit period of the involuntarily unemployed from 20 to 24 weeks; prohibit picketing by non-employees and set up mediation and compulsory arbitration machinery to halt strikes by public utility employees.

BACKGROUND MUSIC
Lower Merion, Pa., June 4 (AP)—A juke box number will provide background music when the graduating class of Lower Merion high school marches down the aisle to receive diplomas. Dr. George H. Gilbert, the principal, thought up the idea himself after hearing Kate Smith's recording of "After Graduation Day." He wrote Miss Smith and the publishers and received their okay plus a new set of lyrics appropriate to the occasion.

TREE KILLS WORKER
Bradford, Pa., June 4 (AP)—R. Maitland, Jr., 25, of Bradford, was crushed to death by a falling tree on Monday on an oil lease of the South Penn Oil company. Maitland was attempting to free a mired bulldozer by means of a cable attached to a tree. The tree uprooted and fell on him.

MYERS ATTACKS "SABOTAGE" IN GOP POLITICS

Pittsburgh, June 4 (AP)—More than 800 Democratic leaders from western Pennsylvania attended a Jefferson Day dinner here last night that had as its theme: Getting out the vote next year to keep President Truman in the White House and more support in Congress.

The Democrats also heard Republican politics bitterly criticized by U. S. Senator Francis J. Myers, of Pennsylvania and Congressman John F. Kennedy, of Massachusetts.

Myers declared the Republican party has been working "not so much as a loyal opposition in a democracy as underground movement whose goal appears to be political and economic sabotage and wreckage."

Scores "Little Men"
"While America takes firm and courageous stands on international issues . . . arrogant little men newly risen to positions of power in Congress wield their hatchets on appropriations necessary to carry out our commitments and they scream in dismay at every dollar spent here or abroad for the purpose of strengthening democracy."

Kennedy, son of the former ambassador to Great Britain, said the Republican leaders in the House "have already clearly demonstrated that the Republican policies that brought disaster to the country in the late 20's are good enough for the Republicans of today—stringent labor laws and tax reductions which benefit the prosperous at the expense of the poor."

John J. Kane, Allegheny County Commission chairman, and Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh, called on party leaders to "go home and go to work."

"You have to build the Democratic party from the ground up, and not the top down," Kane said. He also demanded that the party rid itself of "friction among the party leaders in the counties."

Lawrence also called for party harmony and asked that the Democrats select "upstanding good candidates for the tickets. There are men like this among the war veterans and representatives of labor."

about her slender neck and knotted in a fatal noose.

The homicide squad said it must have taken "two strong men" to carry the body in a heavy metal drum to the ravine where it was found by a junk dealer Monday.

Deputy Coroner Matthew A. Roth said the autopsy disclosed also that the woman apparently was unclad when she was slain, her dress had been slipped over the torso but her arms had not been pulled through the sleeves. Other articles of clothing were jammed into the barrel.

Wrapped In Newspapers

Two anonymous "hot tips" received by telephone melted into false alarms when the homicide squad found both women named were alive.

Estimates of how long the woman had been dead varied, but both said Dr. Gouley reported the time was "three to four weeks." The corpse was wrapped in newspapers, one dated May 7. Closer scrutiny showed another bore the date of April 19, on which day another unidentified woman's body was found in a trunk near Keyport, N. J.

Detective Sgt. Samuel Ricciardi said the woman was in her late twenties or early thirties a little over five feet tall and weighed about 115 pounds.

Impressions

ert Harper, the Danner house, the George Spangler dry goods store at the present location of the Plaza restaurant, the J. L. Schick building at the Dougherty and Hartley corner, the Charles Boyer building at the Delecto corner and the "neat little house" where Jacobs store now is, then occupied by Mrs. Swope, mother of the late Judge Swope.

"Colonels" Operate Hotels

Speaking of other business places he mentioned the Palmestock building at the corner of Baltimore and Middle streets, used by General Howard as an observation point during the battle.

The town's two leading hotels were managed by "Colonels"—Col. John McClellan at the present location of the Hotel Gettysburg and Col. Yingling at the former Eagle hotel.

Listing principal buildings and residences on the main streets, Dr. Alleman enumerated the Kurtz home at the present site of the Bender funeral home on Carlisle street; the home of Professor Breidenbaugh and his father and then the Episcopal church property at the corner of Stevens street that was "like a little English picture dropped into Gettysburg." The homes of Dr. Baugher and Col. Buehler in the next block were on the outskirts of the town.

"Good Printing Shop"

The first residence on the west side of the street was the McPherson home; then the Heindel property, now the Keith home; and on the next corner the Warren property and beyond it the fashion shop of Miss Myra Culp and her sister. He made special mention of the print shop of Edward Wible, now the site of the Gilliland apartments, and its proprietor "who established for Gettysburg a reputation for good printing."

On York street, going east on the north side, was the imposing residence of Cass Neely with his law offices; "the little Gettysburg National bank which seemed like an annex to the home of its cashier, J. Emory Bair, which stood next door."

Next was the Globe Inn and then the establishments of two of Gettysburg's most beloved business men—Jesse Walter's grocery and Simon Codori's meat shop. At the Stratton street corner was the home of Dr. John A. Swope, then the Gettysburg National bank president. The Herbst and Judge McClean homes were in the next block.

On the south side of the street he mentioned the Jeremiah Culp and George Wolf properties and David Troxell's grocery.

Buehler's Drug Store

On Chambersburg street was the Faber tobacco shop and its wooden Indian in front and A. D. Buehler's drug store which he described as "more than a store—it was an institution, a place of the college treasurer, and a gathering place for college professors to discuss affairs of the day." At the site of the Blue Parrot Tea Room was Ephraim Minnick's store and across the street was that of his rival and brother, John Minnick.

"But far more interesting than the physical Gettysburg were its personalities," the speaker continued. Clergymen of the town then were Father Ball at the Catholic church; Dr. Demarest at the Presbyterian; Dr. Markley at the Reformed; Dr. Joel Schwartz at St. James and Rev. Mr. Keith at the Methodist. "The clergy had the respect of the community because they deserved it. They dressed their part. None of them ever was seen on the street in a short coat—unless at a fire."

Dignified Bar

Recalling the dignified members of the bar of that day, Dr. Alleman observed: "From the days of Thaddeus Stevens, Gettysburg had prided itself on its bar and the Stevens tradition was still very vivid, his shadow lingered as a challenge, and sometimes as a warning."

The judge then was William McClean who walked from his home to the court house in a silk hat and frock coat with his gold-headed cane swinging with dignified rhythm at his side. David Wills was always immaculate in his cutaway and David McConaughy was the orator of the bar of that day.

Doctors Horner, O'Neal and Diehl were the town's physicians then.

Listing as "characters Dickinson overlooked," Dr. Alleman described little Judge Russell with his red wig and big, blue cape; Bert Danher who operated a relic emporium at the site of the former Citizens' Trust company building, "one of the most entertaining figures in the town"; Dr. Tate, "a stocky little gentleman with a battered silk hat and a fiery horse, the surgeon of the day"; and Billy Woodward, a be-whiskered little Englishman.

Doctor Alleman lived his description with amusing anecdotes about many of the persons he mentioned and with personal recollections of their characteristics.

Rotary Club Meets

Edward Richardson, president, gave a report on the Rotary club conference at Hershey at the weekly meeting Tuesday evening. Others who were in attendance at the conference also spoke briefly as follows: Luther D. Snyder, Stanley B. Stover, Dr. J. R. Riden, Roy D. Knouse, Charles Ritter and Luther W. Ritter.

A railroad official has been engaged as speaker for next week, when the Vocational Service committee will have charge. This group comprises Charles Ritter, E. W. Dunbar, Lloyd L. Stavelly, and Dr. Donald B. Coover. On June 17 a man from the county farm agent's office will speak.

PARKING TROUBLES

Seattle, Wash. (AP)—While Detectives M. C. Griffin, M. U. Richmond and T. C. Jorgensen were in a hotel arresting three robbery suspects, they overparked their car outside.

Traffic officer R. A. Wilson impounded it and had it hauled off.

The detectives had to call headquarters for another.

botstown, presided at Tuesday's meeting which was one of the largest attended sessions held by the society in recent years.

The society received an invitation from the York County Historical society to join that group on a pilgrimage June 19 to the Ephrata Cloisters and the Landis Valley museum.

The county society received many donations of papers and objects of historical interest. From Dr. Henry Stewart came a framed "carriers' address" printed by the Star and Republican Banner here in 1845; an ancient parlor stand, and a transcript of a card index on the graves of Union veterans in this county.

Get Draft Board Flag

Draft Board No. 2 turned over to the society its flag and other properties not stored by the federal government. From the late Mrs. Isabelle Ross Hoffman, the society received a photo of the driving of the "golden spike" in the G. and H. railway February 25, 1884. A copy of Elsie Singmaster's new biography, "I Speak for Thaddeus Stevens," was given the society and W. W. Eisenhart presented reports of two "pepper corn" payments by St. John's church of Abbotstown.

Dr. Luther Gotwald gave the society a number of valuable volumes including Eggle's History of Pennsylvania, the annals of the Spangler family and Gibbon's History of York County. Papers on Civil War claims and records of the Gettysburg Springs Hotel company were given by Donald P. McPherson, Jr., and the Rev. Mr. Brumbach sent a copy of the history of Christ church at Littlestown.

The Gettysburg Times presented a copy of the 1946 Associated Press News Annual.

Police Seek Parts Of Crashed Plane

The Gettysburg sub-station of the state police today asked anyone who may have gone to Bainbridge, Maryland, and removed any part of the Eastern Airlines plane crashed there to return the souvenir.

Investigators seeking to find the cause of the crash are halted by the fact that some vital parts have been removed by crowds that went to see the crashed plane and took home with them anything they could remove from the ship. Those who may have parts are urged to call the Maryland State Police. Only by having full facts from the crash can the investigators make sure that their recommendations may prevent future accidents, it was pointed out.

approximately 1,200 pupils between the ages six to 18," Dr. Bream said, "that it has a staff of teachers qualified to do a particular job well; it provides one or more teachers for each grade or subject and it employs specialists to give help in reading, health education, music, art, vocational education, attendance problems and pupil guidance."

Need 200 Pupils
Dr. Bream added that a satisfactory school district "is large enough to provide all needed educational staff and services, or it supplements its efforts by being part of a larger intermediate district." He said six-year elementary schools should have 200 or more pupils and junior-senior high schools an enrollment of not less than 260 with not less than 12 teachers.

"The satisfactory school district," he continued, "has ample resources from district and state funds, to provide essential services on a sound basis."

He outlined three plans which York Springs, Huntingdon and Lattimore townships could consider, as follows:

1. Maintain the present setup, a four-teacher high school with approximately 75 pupils, offering a standard program for all. Outlying districts would have to continue educating their children in one-room schools.

Alternate Plans
2. Add some variety to the present high school program by including some commercial and agriculture work, hoping to attract a larger number of students, or.

3. To view the problems on a long range basis and consider the possibility of establishing an elementary center for the first six grades, and then dispose of the secondary pupils as the situation allowed.

All three proposals brought forth considerable discussion, both pro and con, with the assemblage convinced that further study of the situation was necessary before conclusions could be reached.

"When I came to Gettysburg for my class reunion this year I witnessed the Memorial Day parade, the first I had seen here in 50 years. And the first musical selection I heard was 'Safe in the Arms of Jesus.' That convinced me this country is still spiritually safe and sound," Wolf said.

'Explosive' Letters Arrive From Italy

London, June 4 (AP)—Scotland Yard said today that prominent Britons had received letters from Italy filled with explosives and arranged to detonate when opened.

Maj. Gen. Sir Edward Spears, an admitted anti-Zionist, said he received one of the letters and that it contained "a mechanism like the inside of a watch between two sheets of paper" and a bag of powder "about the size of a banana."

A Scotland Yard spokesman said that "I can neither confirm nor deny" a London Evening Standard report that Field Marshal Lord Montgomery, chief of the Imperial General Staff, and Sir Stafford Cripps, president of the Board of Trade, also received the infernal machines. Scotland Yard's agents visited the War office, however.

What To Do For That Sluggish, Down-and-Out Feeling

Remember the time when you could eat like a horse, bubbled-over with energy, felt happy as a lark? Was it not because you liked to eat—didn't know what indigestion was, felt strong as an ox? As age advances the "old stomach and the ever-changing blood" need help. Now you may again release vibrant energy to every muscle, fibre, cell.

Every day—every hour—millions of tiny red-blood-cells must pour forth from the marrow of your bones to replace those that are worn-out. A low blood count may affect you in several ways: no appetite, underweight, no energy, a run-down condition, lack of resistance to infection and disease. To get real relief you must keep up your blood strength. Medical authorities, by analysis of the blood, have by positive proof shown that SSS Tonic is amazingly effective in building up low blood strength in non-organic nutritional anemia. This is due to the SSS Tonic formula which contains special and potent activating ingredients. Also, SSS Tonic helps you enjoy the food you eat by increasing the gastric digestive juice when it is non-organically too little or scanty—thus the stomach will have little cause to get balky with gas, bloating and give off that sour food taste.

Don't wait! Energize your body with rich, red-blood. Start on SSS Tonic now. As vigorous blood surges throughout your whole body, greater freshness and strength should make you eat better, sleep better, feel better, work better, play better, have a healthy color glow in your skin—firm flesh fill out hollow places. Millions of bottles sold. Get a bottle from your drug store. SSS Tonic helps Build Sturdy Health.
